About Asian Arts Agency

Asian Arts Agency (Bristol) (www.asianartsagency.co.uk) is a dynamic arts development agency that develops and promotes international, contemporary and traditional South Asian music and arts in Bristol, the South West and nationally. Over the past 15 years we have grown to become one of the UK's leading supporters and promoters of South Asian music and arts.

In recognition of our national importance and reach we have received increased investment from Arts Council England to enable us to take forward our ambitious plans and ideas over the next three years; as our work takes a step up we are expanding our team to respond to the exciting times ahead. .

We are looking for someone to take develop and manage our education and learning programmes. If you have a background in arts in education and devising and delivering learning programmes and enjoy working with musicians, artists and other professionals. In particular we want to make greater use of digital platforms in our education and learning programmes and this will be an exciting opportunity to work strategically in a vibrant and diverse arts organisation working across England and internationally with major artistes and venues.

What We Do

Our aim is to celebrate the brilliance of South Asian music and to bring the experience to a wider audience. We work to break down barriers by mainstreaming high quality South Asian music in the UK and internationally bringing World class South Asian musicians to the UK to venues that have included the South Bank; SAGE; Barbican and St. Georges Bristol. We are totally committed to changing the way people think about South Asian music and influencing society to embrace diversity in all its forms. We reach out to with audiences from all communities and age groups and play a key national role in promoting creative diversity in the UK.

As one of the UK's premier Asian music and arts development agencies, we develop, commission, produce and promote a range of contemporary Asian music events and touring productions; programme for major festivals (e.g. WOMAD); and coordinate international showcases. Our recent artists support project, Breaking Barriers, involved working with leading companies in the music industry (Real World Studios, BPI). This provided a unique opportunity to over 30 South Asian musicians to make music at World class studios and venues.

Learning and education are central to our work as we develop partnerships with formal and informal learning providers and create new opportunities for people of all ages to learn about and experience South Asian music. We are an ambitious organisation at a prime stage in our work with further growth and expansion planned.

Our offices are in Bristol City Centre and our work is busy but fun and highly rewarding. The Agency is an Arts Council England National Portfolio Organisation (NPO) and Key Arts Provider for Bristol City Council.

Going Forward

With our increased funding and ambitious growth plan we are building our team with new posts in education, marketing and project management. We want to attract people who have ideas and energy; can think for themselves; plan strategically; and deliver our goals as part of a tight team.

Over the next three years we will be:

- creating a range of new programmes including national tours by international artists, music festivals, commissions, and other live music events
- expanding our reach nationally and internationally
- building new partnerships with major festivals and venues
- creating new learning programmes and partnerships regionally and nationally

- extending our support for home grown artistes
- rebranding the Agency to reflect our growing role
- increasing our support for digital production and extending our digital reach
- and raising our profile at home and abroad.

Our programmes are varied and involve working with high profile venues, festivals and artistes. In particular we want to reach out to more people through South Asian music participatory and learning projects and programmes in the South West and in partnership with venues and agencies across England. Our learning and participatory projects have deepened the experience of South Asian music for many people and our increased use of digital technology has been a key part of this strand of our work.

The Agency embraces new ways of working and we already have measures in place to facilitate hybrid working while ensuring that all staff can work together as a team via pre-arranged and regular attendance at our offices.

Education and Learning Manager Role

This is a key role in the Agency working alongside the Director. The Education and Learning Manager is a senior position and has responsibility for developing the education and learning strategy and programmes and widening the Agency's reach. In particular our education and learning programmes will be designed to:

- Give people more opportunities to learn about and experiences South Asian music
- Share the excitement and skills of South Asian music with more people
- Devise new learning programmes and projects that create new opportunities for young people
- Create more opportunities to engage young people with South Asian music
- Work with high quality musicians to develop opportunities for learning and participation
- Create new ways of involving people via digital media and projects and
- Extend our reach to new sectors and devise new programmes to connect with communities, music hubs, schools etc.

- devising new programmes to connect with communities, music hubs, schools etc.

- raising external funding to support education and learning programmes
- recruiting artists and working with them to develop workshops.

The successful candidate will be a committed lover of music/the arts with empathy for South Asian music (though not necessarily a specialist in this field), with experience of devising and delivering high quality education and learning programmes and projects, including via digital means in community settings; with young people in informal settings; and in the formal education sector. You will enjoy engaging with a range of partners and people including musicians, professionals working in community and education sectors;; high profile venues and major festivals (e.g. WOMAD); and leading agencies and companies working in the creative sector including specialist arts education agencies across England.

This is a rewarding and exciting opportunity for a dynamic individual with energy, drive, imagination, a love of live music and a commitment to widening access to music and the arts and increasing knowledge and appreciation of South Asian music. You will work with musicians of international standing and leading arts sector agencies, visit major venues and festivals and work with imaginative and inspiring individuals including international artists. We expect you to hit the ground running!

The post-holder will be:

- an experienced arts and/or education professional with a track record in delivering music learning projects
- a committed lover of music and the arts with empathy for South Asian music and promoting South Asian music talent
- with a strong commitment to creative diversity
- someone with a sound understanding of the delivery of music education and learning programmes
- a creative thinker and team player with energy and drive
- an excellent manager and administrator of programmes and projects with an ability to work closely and sympathetically with partners and venues
- with understanding of the opportunities for working with musicians to share the experience of South Asian music with a wide range of people, and young people in particular
- a persuasive and compelling operator with a high level of diplomacy
- and an excellent track record in all aspects of delivery.
